MORE THAN A CONQUEROR

Waugh M. E. Church and Sunday School

One of the most successful years that Waugh M. B. Church and Sabbath School have ever seen, both spiritually and financially, has been the last prognosticate the glorious future, which has been most remarkable, if not miraculous. Where spathy and deadness formerly abounded, now abounds serive spiritual life, connected with wonderful success. The incubus of the debt has been removed by good subscription for the entire amount, $1,000 of which has already been paid it. More than two hundred persons have professed conversion, out of which number 125 have been added to the church. The Sunday school has prospered in a like manner, to such an extent as to necessitate an increase of the seating capacity of the lecture room, where the sessions of the Sunday school are held, nearly one quarter. The preacher in charge, Rev. Wilford Downs; the superintendent, Capain J. H. Hitchcook, wifit the assistant superintendent, William Middleton, and a corps of efficient officers and teachers have added much to the success, and have proved themselves a band of zealous and faithful workers in the cause of Christ.

participated in by seven members of the society— Miss Bessie Groff, Miss Crafts, Miss Annie Dorsey, Miss Rutherford, and Messra Chandlee, Stock, and Rutherford. The piece exhibited the most prominent roligious of the world and the high claims of Christianity over them all. The rich, clear voice of Miss Groff, both in her recitations and singing, was particularly enjoyable and of a high order. The recitations by the children were very enteracting and pleasing. Mr. Frank Ma-suire sang a tonor sole which was highly ap-predicted by the congregation. Mr. Frank Wilson conducted the singing and Mr. Will Cohen pre-sided at the organ. To be brief, the exercises were a great success.

The dedication of the Ninth Street M. P. thurch yesterday morning brought together

monies of the dedicatory exercises as detailed in the ritual of the church were read and the edifice was solemnly dedicated to the services of God. Rev. T. D. Valint then delivered the sermion, which was a discourse of great power and cloquence. Upon the conclusion of the sermon a collection was taken up to pay of the signt indebtedness which still remains upon the church property. The total indebtedness is only $1,500, and after the collection a good portion of this was wiped away. During the services the choir, under the direction of Mr. George Hartwell, rendered a number of fine selections. The choir is composed as follows: Mrs. Curry. Mrs. Moore, Miss Jennie Peckins, Mrs. Gregg. Miss I. Parsons, Miss Train, and Mr. Franzoni. Miss Ellen Stein presided at the organ. EXERCISES IN THE CHURCHES. Eloquent Sermon by Rev. Edward Everett Hale-

All Souls' Church was filled by a large and cultured audience yesterday morning to hear the elequent pulpit trator, Rev. Edward Everett Hale, of Boston. The reverend gentleman selected as the basis of his discourse the words as found recorded in Acts xvt., 11. "Setting saw, therefore, from Troas, we made a straight New York Avenue Church The New York Avenue Church was filled yester-day morning to overflowing by a large and intelli-gent audience. Dr. Paxton, would occupy the pullfit for the last time served to add to the number of worshipers that each Sabbath fill that edifice. The usual aloral collection was very claborate and beautiful. One large square piece bore on its white bosom the words "God Speed." This was the only allision made to the coming separation. Rev. Dr. Paxton preached, as usual, an acceptable and interesting discourse. He occupied the pulpit again in the evening. On next Sunday he will occupy the pulpit of the church in New York. His family will remain here for two of three weeks. sourse to Samothrace, and the day following to Neapolis." Paul may well have had this occasion in mind when he wrote some years after, "Things which are not bath God chosen to confirm things that are." We do not read the latter haif of the New Testament wisely unless we bear in mind all along the element of absolute coundence of which that landing in the Flymout Rock of Europe is so remarkable a symbol. All this confidence was prefigured by Christ's own confidence and by his quiet expression of it. Never had men heard such absolute optimism. It is the steady proclamation that to those who do their best things will certainly turn out well. The same principle works now and here as worked there and then. Once give a man this cheerful forward hone, but him know that things are to be right next month which are wrong how, that his salary is to be raised at the end of a quarter, that the woman he loves will marry him as soon as April comes, and that man is well-nigh omnisotent—that man does not shirk his duties. TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

Meetings.

Every seat in Lincoln Hall was filled last even opening address. He closed by introducing J. C. Lee, who gave his experience as to the good results of a temperance life. Professor George Galilher rendered in fine style the solo. "Touch Not or Taste the Spatkling Glass." A very interesting address was delivered by Judge Darley, of Iowa, who stated he was not a temperance lecturer, but he never refused to raise his voice in the cause of temperance. His remarks were both practical and positive in the denunciation of the liquer traffic. Mr. Nye made an urgent appeal in closing for signers to the pledge. A large number signed the pledge.

GOSTEL MEETING AT MASONIC TEMPLE.

GOSPEL MERTING AT MASONIC TEMPLE.

The hall in Masonic Temple was densely packed yesterday at the Gospel meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Chapin presided. Mrs. Wilson, of Viriginia, read the Scriptures, and spoke briefly of the different phases and culies connected with the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She is a timid but very pleasing and acceptable speaker—a womanly woman in its strictest sense. Several earnest prayers were offered, and words of encouragement were given from Iowa, Maine, and other States. The music was conducted by Mr. Harries, chorister; Miss Bond, organist, and Mr. Gibson, on cornet. The deepest interest was manifest, and several signed the piedge. GOSPEL MEETING AT MASONIC TEMPLE, Baverly's Mastodon Minstrels.

To-night Ford's Opera-House will be occupied by Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels, and the bare announcement of this fact is sufficient to insure a crowded house. Minstrels, under the energetic management of Haverly, has assumed a new importance, and has gained a fresh hold upon the public strention. Every troupe that he controls is equipped in a manner heretofore unknown in the history of burnt cork. The organization that will appear to-night has met with the most unprecedented success, not only in this country, but abroad. They startled the phlegmatic English by their entertainments, and gave them a new revelation of the possibilities of negro minstrelsy. As a result they drew crowded audiences, and were patronized by the royal family and the nobility, and made great piles of sheekles for the enterprising manager who had the courage to send them across the water. Since their return to this country, they have been equally successful, and at their engagement here last season hundreds were nightly turned away, unable to gain admittance. Among the principals are the Only Leon, Hilly Rice, Frank Cushman, the Dockstaders Brothers. The Mastodons will give a grand street parade to-day. Baverly's Mastedon Minstrels.

The blaze will perhaps cause the plattict commissioners to at once have the plans of the new Police Headquarters placed in hand. The folly of using the present old rookers was never better demonstrated than on this occasion, although it is a fact too neient to require much demonstration. Besides the most valuable police records, the building contains the Fire Department's apparatus, which if destroyed, would cost thousands of dollars to replace. What with half a dozen stores and a restaurant underneath, fire is liable to break out at any time.

BOYS' CLOTHING HOUSE,

It is understood that the North Capitol Method-let Church will lose the services of Rev. F. H. Havenner at this conference, although he has served but one year.

cent completed, they are progressing satisfactority. Rev. Dr. Newman, who has recently accepted the pastorate of a Congregational church in New ork city, will at the next session of his confer-nce ask to be located—left without an appoint-tent in his church, the Methodist Episcopal—for the year. He is still a Methodist.

Chapel, of which it was an outgrowth.

Rev. W. McK. Hammack does not expect to be returned to the Memorial M. E. Church, on H street northeast, which he has served only a part of the year. There seems to be some dissatisfaction in the conference as to this church, as the church property is not deceded, as other churches to trustees for the Methodist Epiccopal Church, but the church, having been built by Rev. G. G. Markham as a memorial to his wife, he retains the title. He has declined to deed away the property, and it is stated that conference will not send another pastor there.

what is gives to him the moral force which makes him

MORE THAN A CONQUEROR

In the trials of to-day. All real leaders of men rely on this principle. It is at the bottom of our national success. It is because we keep open the lines of promotion, you have such a Frestden't as Garfield. You have a financier like Cornelius Vanderbilt because your social order is such that boys selling their mothers' cabbages may rise to be monarchs of finance if they have it in them. If you have inherited from the dark ages a catechism is which boys and girls are taught to be content in the condition of life in which they find themselves, every one of them repeats it with a protest or interpolates a truer prayer between the words. As members of the church or the community they ought to be praying and working to bring God's kingdom nearer—that is, to improve the condition of life to which they are born. What should we care for, indeed, if life stopped with the grave? In truth as soon as this Saviour of mankind life us to that level that we look further than the little horizon of this life, so soon do we want to live as humoral beings here. This or that luxury or this or that social triumph is not onough for me here. For in that glimpas of infinite relations I have a taste of infinite appetites. I have caten angels food, and I hunger and thirst for more. And I am not tempted by the poor repast of earth, which was attractive yesterday. So you find the Saviour of men speaking to us as immortais all along. He does not so much contern earthly tastes and physical desires. Hather be offers other inducements. In looking about the world the question is asked, how will THB DELUGE OF CRIME BE STOPPED?

Christ saves His people from sin, and if He has not saved this people from sin, and if He has not saved this people from sin, and if He has not saved this people from sin, and if He has not saved this people from sin, and if the saved this people from sin, and if the saved this people from sin, and if the saved the people from sin, and if the s The Dashaways-The Women's Gospel ing at the regular public meeting of this well-known temperance organization. The president of the club, Charles M. Nye, made an effective opening address. He closed by introducing J. C.

THIS DELUCE OF CRIME HE STOPPED?

Christ saves His people from ain, and if He has not saved this people from ain, and if He has not saved this people from ain, and if He has not saved this people from sin it is because He has had no chance. The largest church we have—the Church of Rome—has separated sin from the people by crowding between every possible substitute—His mother, His saints, His officers—in such crowd of affiliated organization that the poor drunkard, son of a drunkard, who is son of a drunkard's son, never was encouraged by the hand of faith. The other churches, following this wretched example, have had to build up their own melemency, to defend their own doctrine, to apologize for their own existence, so that they could not spend force where He spent it—in saving people from their sins. All the same His business, and their business all the same to-day that it was when Paul landed on the shore of Maccodonia. To take this discouraged man, whose family has been wretched, whose children have been frightened when he came, and to give to him the courage of a Son of God, to show to him that the past is forgiven. "Who cares for the past? God forgets it. Do you forget it?"

preached a sermon of great elegance and power.

"No uncertainty," said the reverend gentleman,
"clouds the Christian horizou; no mist obscures in the Christian's pathway. His feet, often weary, tread a firm and well-secured path. And beyond, just beyond, where the way is lost in the white radiance of eternity, he knows his journey ends. My text is an affectionate invitation from Moses to Hobab, his brother-in-law, to join the grand exodus to Camaan. Simply viewed it decirates the deep and prous solicitude of a good man for the well-being and happiness of his kinsman. It is a religious appeal. He does not create glowing arguments to overcome Hobab's scruples, nor does he by picturesque enlargement seek to captivate the imagination. He preaches plain of Gospei—the plain, best Gospei obligatedness. My prethien, how much in spirit and in simplicity, in tove and unction, is this goose invitation, given under the sombre shadows of Sinat, like the gracious invitation of the Carist Hineself, in view of the transaction of Caivary. 'Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you reat.' So it is that the scheme, and spirit, and purpose, and sanctions of human deliverance are one, whether under the solumn and awritism of Sinat, the glowing periods of propose, and sanctions of human deliverance are one, whether under the solemn and awtil symbolism of Simai, the glowing periods of prophetic evangels in the dim days yender, or under the glorious devolpments of the Christ dispensation, the poired-out Spirit and the universal preaching of the gospol of faith. For eighteen centuries devout souls have feasted upon the perpetual fulfillment of the promise of the Christ, Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

I am with you always, even units the end of the world."

The sermon was listened to with deep interest, and the congregation was sensibly impressed by it. Many distinguished persons were among the congregation, and many others intable to attend sent letters of regret inclosing checks for collection. The singing was very fine, the Tabernacle bossting a quartette of uncommon excellence. The quartette consists of Mrs. Powell, contraints: Miss Moodly, soprano; Mr. Hanceck, bass, and Mr. B. F. Lloyd, tenor and conductor. Mr. Cushman presided at the organ. Police Headquarters in Dauger. At 1:25 yesterday morning fire was discovered in the store of Mr. H. H. Hempler, optician, 453 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. An alarm was turned conference year. At the commencement of the year the outlook was most cheerless and discour-aging. The church heavily encumbered with a debt of more than $5,000 and a comparatively meeting Saturday night at the residence of Mrs. C. C. Adams, on Rhode Island avenue. Act 2 of Henry IV. was read by the club, followed by a musical and literary programme of great oxedience. The members of the club and guests then repaired to the dining-room, where a bountful collation was induled in, thoughtfully prepared by the genial hostess. The next meeting will be a miscellaneous one, and a programme of more than ordinary interest is being prepared.

within the walls of this beautiful and cosy edifice a large audience. The services were conducted by lice. T. D. Valint, the president of the Maryland Conference, who was assisted by Rev. E. J. Brinkbune, the editor of the Hebedist Adoccut. Baltimore boys are its good apirits, and as they were the victors in the last match will strive hard to maintain their prestige. A big crowd and a hotty contested game are anticipated.

pared, which was flied Saturday, and which sets forth very damaging allegations against the plaintiff. He admits the marriage to have taken place in this city in October last, and claims that plaintiff then admitted to him to have been seduced by one J. Koths, to whom she had been engaged previous to said marriage, and who is now at Blamarck, Dakota. It is further alleged that Roth had a wife and children living at the time in Philadelphia, and that be had bought plaintiff an engagement-ring and purchased furniture, with a view of going to housekeeping with her before she became defendant's wife. The cross-bill further states that defendant condoned her past doings on condition that she would become a virtuous and faithful wife, but that she, on the contrary, continued her intercourse with said Roths, and was also guilty of criminal intimacy with various other persons unknown. He denies any acts of cruelty on his part, but asserts that the sickness she experienced was brought on by acts of her own and to avoid disgraceful exposures. He denies the charges in his wife's bill specifically and in detail.
